WATCHING AMERICA

British Bi-Metallists Believe We Are for the Double Standard.

UNDER INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT

Many So Anxious for the Remonstization of Silver That They Were Willing To Act Independently of Foreign Agreement.

London, July 11 .- The annual report of the bi-metallic league read at the annual meeting yesterday afternoon was quite optimistic in tone, declaring that international bi-metallism had made noteworthy progress in all the countries where the question had been discussed. After referring to the re-olutions in favor of bi-metallism adopted by the popular chambers of Prussia, France and Belgium, the report went on to say that in the United States all the political parties and all classes of business men would welcome the establishment of international bi-metallism. A large number of the people of that country were, however, so thoroughly convinced of the necessity for the remonetization of silver that they were not disposed to wait for an international agreement to that end. The report further said that no party of importance in America favored gold monometalism. In conclusion the report declared: "The responsibility for the present and growing dangers to the industrial life of the nation rests upon those who oppose that monetary system under which our prosperity advanced by leaps and bounds." Lord Aldenham, the president of the league. and a director of the Bank of England. was not present at the meeting, but a letter from him was read in which he congratulated the league upon the progress bi-metallism had made in the United States. He said it was a striking fact that the question of bi-metallism, which, in some quarters of England. was treated with contempt, should apparently be the main political question before the people of the United States. Alluding to the general attitued of the London press. Lord Aldemham said the newspapers had joined the chorus clamoring for "honest money." believing that "honest money" in the United States was applied to gold monometallism, whereas, as a matter of fact, it was applied to international bi-metallism. The letter concluded with the declaration that whatever might be the result of the approaching presidential election in the United States the bi-metallists could be sure that their cause was advancing. The first lord of the treasury and government leader in the house of commons

E: cutive Committee of the New York Democrats Arranging National Committee Named.

The Chairman Says the Republican Fight Li To Be Carried into the West and South, Where It Is Believed Several States Can Bs Captured.

Cleveland, July 14 .- After nearly & month of consideration Chairman Hanna of the republican national committee has named the executive committeemen who will be his co-laborers and adv.sors in managing McKinley's campaign. The list contains the names of M. A. Hanna of Ohio, chairman: M. S. Quay of Pennsylvania, Joseph H. Manley of Maine, H. C. Payne of Wisconsin, Cyrus Leland of Kansas, Powell Clayton of Arkansas, C. G. Dawes of Illinois, W. T. Durbin of Indiana and N. B. Scott of West Virginia. W. M. Osborne of Boston is made secretary of committee and J. A. Dick of this city assistant secretary. The committee will meet in this city to-morrow week. "I am now pre-paring for the fight," Mr. Hanna said, with the air of a man who is confident of winning a prospective battle. "for there is going to be a fight, and a hot one at that. We think that the western and southern states are debateable ground and we shall go into the contest with that idea. The Dakotas shall go republican; Nebraska should be republican, and the same is true of Alabama and Louisiana I have not fully made up my mind as to the political conditions of the people of the border states, but think we have a fighting chance there. In the campaignthere are more issues than the tar. If and the money questions, which are fully as much moment as the other two and which, if anything, concern the maintenance of our government more than the two issues which now hold the public mind. I refer particularly to the stability of our judicial system, which is threatened by the democratic party. In their platform is a plank which contends that the present system of selecting judges of the supreme court be swept away. That court should be surrounded with the greatest protection in order to keep it pure and untainted, and the selection of judges smould not be settled by a sudden wave, a sadden excitement of the peogood expression. Frequently the people are swayed by sentiments of momentary duration. They are wrought up to a high pitch and without giving the matter sober second thought, act. On the morrow they are sorry for their course of action, but then it is too rate. The supreme court must be guarded as on its stability depends the

for a Conference.

QUAY AND MANLEY ON THE LIST TO DECIDE ON A PLAN OF ACTION

Leaders Not in Favor of a Third Ticket. May Decide To Make the Election of Gold Standard Congressmen the Principal Fight.

New York, July 14.-The action, if any, of the democratic gold-standard leaders regarding the Chicago platform and ticket is awaited with much interest. It is generally understood that a meeting is to be held either to-morrow or Thursday, and one report says that the conference is to be held at Long Branch, N. J. William C. Whitney and Senator Hill are not in the city at present, but it is understood they will both be here by this evening. Carlos French, the Connecticut member of the democratic national committee was at the Murray Hill hotel yesterday for a short time. He said he did not know just when the conference would be held, but he thought it would not take place before Thursday. Mr. French denied emphatically the report that he had declared in favor of nominating a third national ticket. He said he had not committed himself one way or the other, and would not until the goldstandard men had conferred and decided on some course.

Opposed to a Tided Ticket.

A prominent Tammany leader said that a conference would be held and that it would be attended by democratic leaders from New York and other states. Another democrat said the understanding was that the New York leaders would first confer and then invite the gold men of other states to a general conference. From the talk of Tammany hall leaders and the followers of Senator Hill up the state, it appears that the democrats are greatly opposed to the nomination of a third ticket. Some of the Tammany men talked of making a campaign for the Bryan ticket; others said they would vote as they pleased, but none of them seemed to think that it would be wise to name a gold standard ticket. Hill and Whitney are said to be opposed to a third ticket.

Leaders Gathering.

The result of the conference, it is generally belived, will be a decision to make no spirited campaign for the the steamer Victoria called at Advent national ticket and make a hard fight | bay on June 29, where it was learned to elect congressmen opposed to free silver and the state ticket in New York. Senator Gorman and Calvin S. Brice are in the city and this leads to a rumor that a conference is to be held before Thursday. Senator Gorman declined to say anything about the proposed conference and Senator Brice. when asked if he would repudiate the Chicago ticket, said: "I am not ready to be quoted on that subject, and shall not be until I have had my own convention, that is, until I have heard from my friends in Ohio and learn what they are going to do or recommend." James W. Hinckley, chairman of the democratic state committee, will issue a call for a meeting of the committee next week for the purpose of calling the state convention. It is said that the convention will be held in Saratoga before the end of August, probably before the republican state convention.

HE PREFERS CONGRESS. Mr. Bland Will Not Be a Candidate for Governor.

Lebanon, Mo., July 14.-In their disappointment over the defeat of Mr. Bland for the presidential nomination. many Missouri free silver democrats have turned to him to lead the party this fall in Missouri as candidate for governor. He has received many telegrams and letters the past few days urging him to become a canidate, but he says he will not change his course. He made up his mind several years ago, he declares, that he did not want to be governor, preferring to continue his fight in congress. He said that he would not be a candidate for governor. He said he was a candidate for the democratic nomination for congress in this, his old district. He desires to go back to congress to make the fight for free silver in the house.

CLEVELAND BASEBALL TROUBLE Another Injunction and Fun Is Expected Before the Teheau Case Is Settled.

Cleveland, July 14.- Everything was in readiness for some fun yesterday afternoon at the Cleveland-New York game. In the morning Umpire Hurst received a telegram from president Nick Young instructing him that Pat Tebeau was ineligible to play yesterday, and telling him the game was liable to protest. Hurst did not know whether to umpire the game or not, so Pat Tebeau hustled down town, went into court and an injunction was issued against Hurst, restraining his interfering with the order of the court which had already enjoined the league from collecting the fine assessed against Tebeau. Frank Robison sat on the players' bench to see the fun when Dick Stegkemper served the injunction on the umpire. Hurst said nothing but went on with the game. Irwin decided not to protest before the game, but wanted to see whether the giants lost it or not. The scene around the Cleveland players' bench was more like that seen in a justice court. In addition to the injunction on Hurst restraining him from interfering with Tebeau, restraining orders were also served on Arthur Iwin and Kid Gleason enjoining them from collecting the fine levied on Tebeau. It was a field day for the lawyers. Big Mike Sullivan went in to pitch for the giants, while Cuppy pitched for Cleveland. Tebeau was on first. The threatening weather kept the attendance down. Irwin decided to take a chance on being in contempt of court, and has protested the game. The chances are that he will be arrested and taken before Judge Stone for a hearing. There will be fun indeed before the Tebeau case is settled.

On the way back from Spitzbergen, that the members of the Martin-Conway party of the Swedish Geer-Knooring expedition were well. At that time Advent bay was full of ice.

LEAVING FOR HOME

Big Exodus of C. E. Visitors from Washington.

MANY ARE THERE YET, NEVERTHELESS

Those Who Remain Spending the Day in Sight-Seeing and Other Recreations. Pleased with the Hospitality

Extended to Them.

Washington, July 14. -Many of the visitors who were here for the past few days to participate in the Christian Endeavor meetings have already left for home, but many others are still here and to-day is being devoted to sightseeing and other recreations. The visitors have nothing but praise for the people of Washington, and speak in high terms of gratitude for the open and liberal hospitality extended to them on all sides. The board of trustees of the united societies of Christian Endeavor held its final meeting for the year yesterday in its room at the Ebitt house and formally wound up the business of this convention. Resolutions were unanimously passed expressing thanks to the capital city_of_ Washington for its welcome to the committee of '96 and for its services; to Sergeant-at-arms Bright of the United States senate and capitol police, to the Marine band, to the police, to the choir of 4,000, to the press, to the government of the United States for use of the White lot. to Col. Wilson, superintendent of public buildings, and to the motormen, drivers and conductors of the street railroads of Washington. The trustees were gratified during the meeting by the reception of a signed. statement bearing the names of nearly every state union of Christian Endeavor societies approving their administration of the affairs of the society and endorsing generally their system of government. This statement was called forth by an agitation in some parts of the west and continued there for several years, seeking to effect a change in the management of the societies. No crticism has been directed against officers or trustees by the agitators. The was to secure a representative form of government in the society. At present all power over the affairs of the society is vested in the board of trustees and their officers and the board is self-perpetuating. Some of the western Endeavorers want to change this system so that vacancies in the board could be filled by election either in the conventions or by the local unions. Opposition to this proposed change found expression to-day in this formal statement, which bears the signatures of twenty-eight state union presidents and the expression is so emphatic that the agitation for a change of system is not likely to be heard from again for some time.

AT A LEAP-YEAR BALL. He Was Only a Timid Fluttering Thing

and He Knew It. The "new man" made his initial boy and was launched on the restless social sca with all the pomp and ceremony worthy of such a truly great event "Gladys" as he is known among his friends, was taken to a leap year party and behaved just "too lovely for any thing," or so the women said, at any

His escort called at 8.30 and was kept waiting a half hour in true feminine fashion by Gladys, who was putting the finishing touches to his toiler. Finally, just as his escort began to free and fume under the delay, the tardy young man tripped lightly down the tairs into the drawing-room, exclaim ing: "Oh, Miss Sorosis! I am afraid vou will think I am an awful man to keep you waiting so long, won't you? It was dreadfully stupid of me, I am sire, and I am awfully sorry, really Mamma mislaid my side combs, don't you know, and we have had such an exciting time hunting for them that I was in a terrible state of excitement when you rang. Mamma says I am a silly little goose to get agitated or " such a small matter, but then I don't are-I know I shall outgrow it when I am older. (Gladys has been on speak years.) How do you like my new gown -don't you think it is just too sweer for anything?" guched Gladys.

When his escort had gone into ecsta sies over the bewildering display, the little man coyly remarked: "Oh, you girls are such fearful fibbers we poor men scarcely know how much to beheve of what you tell us. You think ne consider seriously all the nonsense you tell us-new don't you, honor bright? Well, I want to tell you we don't, so there, now. Oh, you naughty, naughty girls! But then I don't blame tou—ne mon are so silly, aren't we? How thoughtful you were to send me these lovely flowers. I do so adore crehids. Do you know, papa thinks it a shameful waste to squander so much money on flowers for us men. and thinks it would be much more sensible to put the sum in the Homestead Aid association, where it would accumulate interest. Papa, you know, spent his early days on a farm and vasn't reared to the little niceties of social ife. But then he is such a dear kind old soul, and keeps me so well supplied with pin money that I can't bear the thought of openly disagreeing with him. Poor, dear papa! I really dea't know what I would do without him-I don't think the woman lives that I would marry and leave my papa. 'Gladys starts for the carriage and gers as far as the door, when he calls out in alarm.) Oh, mamma, where is my fan and the door key? I am se horoughly excited I nearly forgot them." (These necessary articles are produced. Gladys cuddles confidingly up to his escort in the carriage, and the party is fairly off for the party.)

Arriving at the ball Gladys devoted 15 minutes to rearranging his hair, and as ready to go downstairs at a quarter hefore ten.—Utica Observer

Oregon Hunter Attacks a Bear with an Crdinary Jackknife.

J. C. Hearing, who was hunting and trapping in the Blue mountains, a few miles west of Elgin, met with a little adverture with a bear recently that might have proved rather serious to him had it not been for the intervention of one of his dogs, says the Portland Oregonian. He was engaged in setting traps, and as he had considerable weight to carry he had no weapon with him except a jackkrife, and on his rounds his dogs discovered the winter quarters of a bear in a big hollow tree. The bear was at bome, and was pretty much alive, as subsequent events proved. As bear pelts are quite valuable. Jake was quite anxious to secure this one, but was afraid that if he went to camp, a mile and a half distant, bruin would escape, so he lashed his pocketknife to the end of a stick and attempted to cut the animal's throat. He only succeeded in inflicting some painful flesh wounds, which so enraged the brute that it suddenly came out of its hole, and was almost on him when one or his dogs m, de a sudden onslaught on the animal's rear, which directed his attention long enough to enable Jake to dodge behind a tree, and the dogs scon made it so tronical for the bear that it was glad to ta- refuge in - tree, where they kept it until a gian was procured from camp, when the animal was quickly dispatched

Nest of Clock Springs.

In the Museum of Natural History at Soleure, in Switzerland, there is a built's nest made entirely of steel. There are a number of clock-making shops at Solvure, and in the yards of these there are often found lying disused or broken. springs of clocks. One day a clockmaker noticed in a tree in his yard a bird's nest of peculiar appearance. Examining it, he found that a pair of wagtails had built a nest entirely of clock springs It was more than four inches across, and perfectly confortable for the birds. After the feathered architects had reared their brood, the nest was taken to the museum, where't is preserved as a striking illustration of the skill of birds in turning their surrourdings to advantage in building their nests

The White Feather.

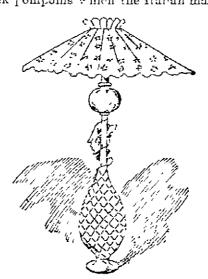

The story cuns that, during a war betyeen the backwoods settlers of North America and the natives, a Quaker leasted the enemy and placed a white teather over the door of his house as a sign of aunity. The token was respected. Hence the phrase: "Showing the white feather," which has come to mean conordice

NEW THINGS IN LAMPS. Low Many Familiar Bits of Bric-a-Brac

Are Utilized Nowadays. In these days, when everything from an ink bottle to a tea caddy is utilized for a lamp foundation, with, too, it must be admitted, varying success, a really graceful novelty is not to be overlooked. Such a one, seen recently, was a lamp evolved from an Italian wine bottle. Into the long, slender neck of a large wicker-bodied Chianti flack was inserted one of the delicate glass lamp bulbs to be found in the leading shops. The shade, a most harmonious accompaniment to this effective concert, was of fine sprigged mealin gathered very full over a liming of white silk. The gay red and blue silk Jomponis which the Italian manu-

danty novelty. Another lamp to be desired, seen in a studio noted for its fascinating collection of old brasses and glass, was fashioned of one of the brass milk cans which are among the finds of Holland. The can had been slightly beaten and highly polished, and into its four-inch neek was fitted a lamp fount. A yellow silk shade added the finishing

In the den of a bachelor a foundation for a lamp has been laid with three Turkish daggers. Their handles, resting on the table, the curved blades hold the fount. The original thought which designed this unique ornament has carried out the oriental scheme in the shade, which is made of a brightly striped silk scarf of Turkey.

The fortunate possessor of two tall. single candelabra of the Empire period has, with the aid of a pale yellow and a turquoise blue lamp bulb and shade to match, added two of the most charming illuminating vehicles imaginable to her artistic menage. The same little housewife has supplied a much-desired bane and white lamp for a white diningroom by purchasing for a mere song a tall candlestick of imitation Delft and supplying it with a white porcelain bulb and a shade made of blue and white Japanese crepe.

An inexpensive and in every way satisfactory toilet lamp is easily evolved Our Swamer Diesses for children. Nowhere can you find such a from any one of the pretty porceiam candlesticks picked up occasionally, at a very small investment, in the leading crockery houses. The simple old brasand silver candlesticks that are heritage from our grandmothers will also be found very available for the same purpose.—N. Y. Times.

HOW TO REGAIN YOUTH.

Busy Women Should Rest at Least One

Hour Every Day. Busy women continually resolve to "take things easier," "to rest on their oars for a season," and drift on the river of indolence, if only one hour a day. We embark on the daily voyage fully in tending to do this, but before nightfull realize that we have been shipwrecked on the Scylla of duties, real or imaginary, or engulfed in the Charybdis of social

Why not really make up our minds that one hour daily should be devoted to recreation or resting in some manner? Lither we will walk an hour, he down an hour, read an hour, sew, knit. do fancy work, visit or chat with a congenial friend for an hour. In short, we will everturn our common methods for one brief space daily. The result of a month's fair trial of this plan will encourage to further effort in the same direction, and in faithful observance of some such system we shall renew our 'youth like the eagles," while many of the worn and toilsome places will take on new beauties "and blossom as the rose."-Chicago Inter Ocean.

Red Manicure Saive Is Vulgar. Women never eared more carefully for their pails than now, but the woman of taste avoids extremes in this as in ell things. Pink nails are admired because a perfect nail should be thin enough to show the rosy blood beneath, but a nail glowing with the red salve of the toilet table is no better lilled than lips and cheeks which owe their brilliancy to the rouge pot. Nor is an artificial polish to be recommended; the natural gloss should be maintained and heightened. The best authorities forbid the use of the nailbrush. Any dust or soil may be removed with a bit of cotton wound around a wooden toothpick or bit of orange wood; the small emery boards which are sold everywhere for the purposo keep the under surface of the mail so smooth that little or nothing can

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts-gentle efforts-pleasant effortsrightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms o sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated cond. tion of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs. promotly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of iemilies, and is everywhere exteemed so highly by all who value good hea'th. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you parchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health. and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative. one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

LORD OGILVIE'S ALARM CLOCK. It Was None of Your Automatical Cuckeo Affairs, But a Real Bird.

"Colorado has rejoieed in the possession of two or three live representatives of the English aristocracy," says Alfred S. Trude, of Chicago. "I met one of hem in Denver when I was going out on a hunt. He was Lord Ogilvie, and seemed intent on doing as well as he could to pay off the United States national debt. The internal revenue tax on the drinks that man took from January to January would place a government gauger beyond want. Ogilvic had a cattle ranch up in Estes park, or perhaps North park. At all events it was in some park, and when he wearied of ranch life he would come into Denver to enjoy himself. He had superstitions about sleeping, and could not rest well unless he had a champaigne bottle or each post of his bed. Thus it came that in order to insure somnolence he invariably called up and drank four quarts after retiring to his room in order to get the empty bottles. He was a very notional man, this Lord Ogilvie, and pint bottles only produced insomnia.

"The occasion I met him he struck Denver tired and worn out. He went to his room early, and, after the customary cork popping, went to sleep. An hour after midnight sharp the loud and somewhat truculent song of a rooster came reverberating through the corridors and down the marble stairways of the hotel. Again and again the bird sounded his note. The clerk stirred up his force of bellboys and they attempted to find the creature which was breaking the rest of the guests. Twenty bells rang and the clerk had to send back as many soothing explanations. One man came down half dressed and pleaded to be permitted to see the other cockfights. He was a clean-strain sport from Missour he said, and would never open his mouth where police could hear of the main. He was homesick and a good, quiet cockfight would cheer him.

"At two o'clock the clarion again sounded. This time the clerk, knowing the habit of the fowl, had deployed skirmishers. Bellboys were on all the floors, and the one patrolling the second marked the chicken down in Ogilvie's room. The clerk went to the aristocrat's door and kicked upon it. "'Come in,' shouted Ogilvie, who was aroused after ten minutes' effort. 'Come in: the door isn't locked.'

"On the head of the Englishman's bed was perched a fine brass-backed game. the winner of 100 battles, and the owner of a voice like a bugle. He regarded the stranger with a hostile eye and crowed

"'This won't do, my lord,' expostulated the clerk. four rules expressly for bid guests bringing pets or animals into their rooms. One of the boys must carry the rooster down.'

"'Not in a thousand years,' replied Ogilvie, reaching under his pillow and getting a bad, hard-looking six-shooter. 'Not in ten centuries. This is not a pet. This is an alarm clock. The last time I was here you let me miss a train, and this time I've brought something I can rely on to call me at five o'clock. It's all right. Adios; good night.'

"The bird remained on guard."-Chi cago Times-Herald.

A SLAVE HUNT RECALLED.

The First Fugitive Ever Hunted in Massachusetts.

George W. Latimer, of Lynn, the first fugitive slave hunted in Massachusetts, died recently at his home in Lynn. His history was an interesting one, as it was his arrest and incarceration on Massachusetts soil in 1842 that, to great extent, inspired the old anti-slavery workers in the earlier years of the controversy. He had been given his freedom by the will of his mistress, but the will was never probated, and the heirs refused to allow the bequest, and he was sold to James B. Gray, of Norfolk, Va., September, 1841, he and his wife man aged to secrete themselves in the forepeak of a stemer loaded with cotton for the north, and nine hours later left the boat at its next port of call, and took a steamer for Baltimore, whence they went to New York, and came from that place to Boston. They found lodgings among people of their own color on Jov street, but when Latimer ventured to the post office he was recognized by a man from the south, and two weeks later his master arrived from Norfolk and caused his arrest. He was taken to the Leverett street jail and his master at once instituted proceedings to have him returned to Virginia as a fugitive. Garrison and others fought the case on every point, but Chief Justice Shaw ruled that Gray had a right to take his chattel back if he could prove property. Public indignation meetings were held in different parts of the state, the most notable one being in Fanguil hall, October 29, at which Sewell presided, and the speakers were Wendoli Phillips, George S. Hilliard, Charles L. Remard and Frederick Douglass, who was at that time a fugitive.

A respite was granted in the court proecedlings, and Gray's counsel offered to free Latimer for $500. This was refused, and when Gray heard that it was the intention of the citizens to storm the jail and release him, he modified his demands and freed him for half the amount originally demanded.

The sum was raised by Dr. Samuel L. Caldwell, pastor of the Tremont temple. The return of Latimer to Virginia to be tried on a charge of larceny that had been preferred against him was then demanded, but extradition papers were refused. Shortly after he removed to Lynn, and had lived there since, honored and respected by all who knew him. He was 75 years old at the time of his death and left a widow and three children.-Boston Traveler.

In making up his Executive Commit tee, Mark Hanna has ignored both New York factions. Strange to say, the Platt men, who have the most right to grumble, are entirely satisfied, while the Millerites, who have no party standing but who confidently expected recognition, are very much disgusted and are "kicking" as usual.

The Christian Endeavor convention at Washington was unfortunate in being held at the same time as the Chicago convention which overshawed it in public interest, but it was in many respects the best and by all odds the most enthusiastic convention that the Endeavorers have held. It cannot fail to be far reaching in its influence for good.

Yellow fever is epidemic among the Spanish troops in Cuba, and it is doing more for the insurgent cause than the bullets of the rebel army could do in years. In the hospitals at Hayana and Santiago over 10,000 men are down with the disease, and of those stricken over forty per cett, die. On the trocha. where the troops are exposed to the rain. the mortality is even greater and in Matanzas sixty per cent, of those stricken die and it is becoming lifficult to bury the dead.

HAT SHOP RUINS ON FIRE.

Mysterious Blaze in What Was the Pouncing Room of the Babeock Hat Factory—Supposed to Have Been Started by Boys Playing in the Bullding

The rains of the Babcock hat factory caught fire in some mysterious manner. this morning, and the fire department was cailed out, at 9:45 o'clock, to extingui-h the biaze.

James M. Garland was passing down Monlingen avenue, when he saw smoke require from the windows or the old pouncing room in the busement of the building. A closer inspection assured him that the whole interior of the room was a teass of flames, and he ran to box 34 and turned in the alarm.

About the same time several workmen engaged in tearing down the brick walls in the rear of the ruined building detected the odor of smoke, and traced it to the pouncing room. Two boys, George Carey and Joseph Shephard, were seen near he room just as the fire was discovered, and until their story was heard and confirmed it was believed that they had been the cause of the fire.

Eagle Hose Company was first to arrive and soon had a stream on the blaze. Waalkill Engine Company was next, and by the united efforts of these companies the are was soon extinguished.

It is thought the fire was the work of a party of boys who had been seen playing in the building about ball an hour before the fire was discovered. Their identity, however, could not be traced. The building and real estare is owned by Messes, W. D. Stratton, W. F. O'N-iil

L LOI ESKINUS. A Primitive People Just Emerging from the Stone Age.

The characteristics of the northernmost Eskimos have provided Henry G. Bryant with material for a strikingly interesting lecture, which was delivered before the Archaeological society in the university museum. The Eskimos. Mr. Bryant said, have attracted more attention from scientific men than any other similar nee in the world. He visited them tiree timesin 1871, when he went to the Grand falls of Labrador, and in 1892 and 1894 in north and south Greenland, when on the Peary expeditions. The Labrador Lakimos he regarded as a somewha' degenerate race. They have been in contact with the Danish missionaries for 175 years and afford evidence of the admixture of European blood. The women alone retain their dress. This Mr. Bry21 Illustrated by a native doll which showed among other peculiari ties the method of wearing the hair. The color of the hair ribbon distinguishes the condition of the woman, whether maid, wife or widow.

"The use of tea and coffee and the changed mode of life," he observed, have unfitted the men for the fatigues of seal-hunting and pulmonary diseases are frequent. Dr. Nansen, who is cruising somewhere near the pole, has given a most favorable account of the Eskimos of the west coast of Greenland. While great injustice has been done to the Eskimos in the past, their racial peculiarities cannot be preserved through any intervention of civilized people. 'Che northernmost Eskimos were encountered in 1818, when the members of Sir John Ross' expedition spent several days in the neighborhood of Cape York. They are a primitive tribe, just emerging from the stone age. As the vessel approached Cape York, the explorers saw crowds of skin-clad men and women, with their hair streaming down their backs. They showed no signs of alien blood or physical decay. The men average five feet five inches and some are even five feet ten inches, while the women conform more nearly to the popular idea of Eskimo stature.

"The northernmost Eskimos meet the Eskimo inhabitants of the west coast of Baffin's bay, whom they call the 'tattooed men,' and fierce fights occur between them. Few living mem-Lers of the tribe had seen a white man up to the time of Lieut. Peary's visit in 1871. In 1818 Sir John Ross noted they were not familiar with bows and arrows nor did they know the kyack. Lieut. Peary found bows and arrows and the kyack in use among them, and it would appear they had acquired a knowledge of these objects since they were first visited.

"They are very reticent about their religious beliefs. They have notions of a future state and a spirit of good and an evil spirit of the ice and waters. There are no rulers or chiefs among them and no formal government. Family life is very happy and they are distinguished by their regard for children and their care for the weak and sickly. The barbarous custom of strangling infants when the father dies, however, still survives. Polygamy and divorce are not popular, but the custom of exchanging wives is quite common and often effected by force. The exchange lasts from two months to a year."-Philadelphia Telegraph.

"FORM" IN BICYCLING.

How Society People Go a Wheeling-Attending Grooms and Maids.

The "form" of bicycling is beginning to be studied. Grooms on wheels must follow their mistresses as they did on horseback; it is probably only a question of a short time when the lady's maid will have to include wheeling with her other accomplishments to secure a situation. On the road the woman who wishes to ride a la mode has to know a number of little things that are overlooked by another woman, just as the smart set have a code for riding and driving that is as inexorable as that they should not eat with their knives or put sugar on oysters. Society insists on an upright position, with, of course, no attempt at racing pace. It also frowns upon constant ringing of the bell-that will do for the vulgar herd who delight in noise; the well-informed wheelwoman keeps eyes and cars alert and touches her bell rarely.

DISEASE SCOURGING AUSTRALIA Typhold Fever and Diphther!a Epidemic

on the Island Continent. Australia's scourging by no means ceased with the passing of the terrible heat wave and the subsiding of the electric storms and cyclones which followed close on the heels of the heat. The last mail advices from the sorely-afflicted continent tell of a widespread epidemic of typhoid fever, a direct consequence of the heat. Almost all the wells in many districts dried-up and many creeks and rivers ceased to flow. A water famine resulted, and the inhabitants were compelled to use impure water. As a result typhoid fever broke out, and the mortality from the disease was, at last accounts, even greater than that caused by the terrible heat. Melbourne was badly afflicted. The fever wards in the hospitals soon filled up and very many patients had to be turned away. The same conditions obtained in Alexander, Wagga and Waterloo, and outorcaks of typhoid were reported from very many parts of the continent. Diphtheria, too, broke out in many places and caused many deaths. The storms that followed the heat interrupted communication, blowing down telegraph wires and washing away bridges and roads, and when the last mail advices left Australia but meager reports were obtainable of the death and destruction caused throughout the continent and in Tasmania and New Zealand by the extraordinary climatic conditions. After the hear and, the storms came earthquakes. They were not serious, and no considerable damage had been reported at last accounts. They were most felt in Queensland. The earth trembled and windows rattled and crockery was shaken from shelves. Half a dozen towns in the colony reported having experienced the shocks. The shocks passed from east

The Australian papers are filled with stories of the great heat and storms and the loss of life and property resulting therefrom. The greatest heat recorded during the hot spell, which occurred in January, was in Adelaide, 172 degrees in the sun and 111 in the shade: in Melbourne, 112 degrees in the shade; Hopetoun, 113 degrees: Swan Hill, 116 degrees; Bourke, 118 degrees, and Mildura, 120 degrees. In Bourke, N. S. W., a town of 3,000 inhabitants, 35 people died in one week of heat apoplexy. People fell in the streets and died without regaining consciousress. A woman attending her dying husband suddenly became ill from the heat and died an hour before her husband. A son-in-law of these two died from the heat while making the funeral arrangements. Many people were found after the heat was over dead in the country roads and in the fields. The railway departments of the various colonies made special reduced rates to enable people to escape to the cooler districts of the Australian Alps, and the residents of the plains fied to the mountains panicstricken. Milnons of fish perished in the lakes throughout the country because of the water drying up. The pelicans profited rather than suffered by the heat. They thronged the banks of the lakes in the sands, gorging themselves on the fish exposed by the evaporating waters. Birds fell from the trees and died in great numbers. The wax cells of bee hives melted and imprisoned large numbers of bees, which were thus smothered in their own sweetness. Cattle and sheep died in droves all over the contiment and the price of stock has gone ap greatly. Smelting was suspended in most of the mining towns and surface laborers of all kinds had to cease work. The grape crops in many districts were rained. In Sydney 100 tons of icc were consumed daily, and the supply of lemons was completely used up.

Serious fires occurred not only in the bush and the country districts, but also in the cities, started by spontaneous combustion. Extra guards were placed at many factories and warehouses to watch for and guard against fire generating in closely stored goods. Bush fires prevailed all over the country, and the fate of many settlements is still in doubt.

The damage in Queenstown from the storms which followed close after the neat was very great, and only meager reports had yet been collected three weeks ago. Houses and buildings of all descriptions were swept away in the floods and the damage to crops, almost ready for the harvest, was enormous. The Comet rose 40 feet in 12 hours, the Noga 20 and the Yama 12 feet. At Payneham the English church, one of the finest structures in the colony, was leveled to the ground by the eyelonic gale and the succeeding floods. At Gympie the mines were flooded, and all the mining eperations in the district were suspended. Great suffering prevailed in all quarters heard from and great destitution must result from the rum of the crops.

It will doubtless be many weeks before the complete history of Australia's straordinary climatic scourge i learned, and all the indications are that it will be a terrible and sorrowful talo -N. Y. Sun.

Oliver Wendell Holmes said:

"If all drugs were thrown into the sea it would be better for men and worse for the fishes."

Yet for the only drug which is at once a medicine and a food we are indebted to one of those same fishes. Dr. Holmes was hasty. "No known drug," says a high English authority (Dr. A. E. Bridger), "except cod-liver oil, has power to generate any force within the human body. The stimulants and tonics waste force and create weakness." Thus we see why of Cod-liver Oil with hypophosphites has, for twenty years, been the chief dependence of physicians in all bronchia! and lung diseases. Scott's Emulsion acts strictly on the lines of modern medical practice. It does not stimulate, like alcohol and quinine, or stupely, like opium and the bromides. It nourishes, strengthens and upbuilds the system. Being a true food (digested and absorbed in cases wherein other food only clogs the digestive organs, ferments, and poisons the blood). Scott's Emulsion arrests wasting, forms new flesh and tissue, revives the natural appetite and cures disease, conferring more life. For consumption, bronchitis, depleted blood scrofula, etc... it excels all other remedies or forms of treatment.

Judge Dickey Finds That a Rockland County Attorney Acted Unprofessionally and Orders Him to Pay His Client $1,000.

Judge Dickey, yesterday, rendered a decision in an action of Kate R. Travis against Frank P. Demarest, both of Nyack, heard by him on Saturday.

Mrs. Travis had a second mortgage on property in Nyack for $2,200. A first mortgage on the same property was being forcelosed by Russell Sage, who paid Demorest as Mrs. Travis' attorney $1.590 for her mortgage. Demorest only paid Mes. Travis 8590, and at the same time collected a bill of $50 for his services. Learning the faces, Mrs. Travis brought suit to recover the remaining $1,000.

Judge Dickey in his decision says:

"She employed Frank P. Demarest, an attorney, to look after her interests. He, by the sale of the mortgage, realized $1,500. He paid her $450 and retained $1,050. He was her chosen trusted attorney. She confided in him and he should have worked for her interests rather than his own. I cannot endorse his conduct towards her. She paid him $50 for good, honorable service, and as he does not seem disposed to do right by her, he must be compelled to. Let an order be entered that he pay her $1,000 and the disbursements of these proceedings.

THE CYCLONE IN GREENVILLE.

The Cloud that Passed Over the Mountain, Thursday, Caused Much Damage From Gur Guymard Correspondent.

The cyclone, accompanying the shower of Thursday, July 9th, did damage to the extent of several hundred dollars to the property of farmers in the vicinity of Finchville. The route is marked for several miles by uprooted trees and broken fences. Mr. Geo. Wan Etten's barn, which was unroofed, contained about twelve tons of hay, which was damaged by the heavy fall of rain. Oliver Green had nine apple trees and six pear trees uprooted besides natch damage to outbuildings and chimneys. Mr. Austin had a wind mill toru down and E. Manning a milk house.

It was a good example on a small scale of the much described Western cyclone, a balloon shaped cloud with banging neck, a rotary motion and a noise like an immense saw. There was very little wind outside of the rotating column. A rather odd feature of the display was the lightning, which played around the moving cloud and repeatedly struck the floating pieces of toof, setting them on

ACCUSED OF FORGERY.

Harry Davis, of Johnson, Charged With signing the Name of May Osborn of That Village to a Matrimonial Adverti-ement.

During the latter part of June, Miss May, daughter of Robert C. Osborn, of Johnson, a very respectable and highly esteemed your lady, received many letters from different sections of the country. making proposal of unrriage and containing all sorts of nonsense. It was a great surprise to her and she showed the lefters to her parents.

It was a mystery none of the family -ould athom until a letter postumrked Johnson was received enclosing an advertisement clipped from the Chicago World, of June 20th, and censuring Miss Osborn for adopting such means to secure a husband. The advertisement was as íðllows:

"A well to do farmer's daughter of 48 would like to correspond with some nice young man not over 25. Miss May Osborn, Johnson, N. Y.

Mr. Osborn thought he recognized the handwriting in the letter and wrote the Chicago World and secured the or ginailetter ordering the advertisement, in which the handwriting was identical with that of the letter mailed at Johnsons enclosing the advertisement, and was also the same as that in other anonymous letters previously received by Having every reason to think the letters and the advertisement were the work of Harry Davis, a farm hand. about twenty-five years old, who has lived at Johnson for several years. Mr. Osborn went to Goshen on Friday and procured a warrant for Davis arrest on a charge or forgery in the third degree, in having signed the name of May Osborn to the advertise-

Officer Landy arrested Davis, Monday morning, and he was arraigned before Justice Wyker, and in default of $300 bail for his appearance on Thursday, was committed to jail.
